HERE AND THERE.

Matinee races in Memphis today, June 25.

North Branch high school has been placed on the University accredited list.

Marlette M. E. people have presented their pastor with a Ford automobile.

J. E. King, of Mendota, Ill., has about decided to build an elevator at Peck.

A hotel of 49 rooms is to be erected immediately in Algonac, on the J. J. Ryan property.

Mrs. Melissa Wilcox, 80 years old and a resident of Imlay City for many years, died last week.

W. Sheldon had two horses drown when they fell off the dock which is being rebuilt at Lexington.

Dr. F. J. Sheldon, dentist of Lexington, will have an office in Peck and may locate there permanently.

One of Sandusky's free attractions for its fall fair will be the Port Huron National Guards Co. C. third regiment.

A drinking fountain for dogs has been established in Imlay City at the foot of the fountain for the human family.

Wm. Willer, living south of Sandusky, was gored by a bull at the farm of John Johnson last week and was very seriously injured.

Three weeks ago the Catholics of Sandusky started to build a chapel and last Sunday held services in an extraordinary pretty building.

Jake Meredith, mail carrier between Sandusky and Argyle, was severely injured when his horse ran away throwing him out of his cart.

Mrs. Lucy K. Vance, a resident of St. Clair since her childhood, celebrated her 97th birthday last week, Monday. She is still hale and hearty and proud of her many years.

The Sanilac County Medical Society met last week at Sandusky and adopted the proposed fee bill, over the signature of 23 physicians. The regulated bill will go into effect within six weeks.

Louis Weston, of Speaker township is ill with a malignant case of smallpox. Weston has been in Peck and also around his neighborhood. The family is strictly quarantined now and it is hoped no epidemic will follow.

The Peck Times has purchased the subscription list and good will of the Melvin Gazette and will send its paper to the Gazette subscribers until their time expires. Job work, advertising etc., at Melvin will be looked after by Paul W. Harding.

Algonac people have been promised a new jail and council rooms and a liberal minded citizen offered to furnish a handsome town clock to be placed on the outside of the building. The clock is ready, but nobody hears anything more about the edifice and are beginning to get impatient.

Five Wales young men were returning home from Port Huron on a hand car one evening last week when they collided with a gasoline motor car used on the section. Several of the boys were hurt but Clare Holsh was thrown against the fence and suffered concussion of the brain. He was unconscious twenty four hours.

WELL TOLD

BY A YALE RESIDENT.

The following has more interest for Yale residents than it otherwise would have because Mr. Henry is one of our selves, a citizen of Yale. If it prove of assistance to but one person in Yale, it will have been well worth telling. John Henry, marshal, Arthur and Second Sts., says: "For a number of years I was annoyed by pains across the small of my back. Dizzy spells and headaches bothered me and small specks would seem to float before my eyes. Sometimes the trouble was so bad that I had to catch hold of something to keep from falling. The passages of the kidney secretions were too frequent. I finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box gave me so much relief that I continued taking them until the trouble left."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Henry had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

For Our Fashion Followers.

THE HOME TOWN FOR HOME FOLKS

THE PLACE TO BUY AND SELL

Yale An Especially Attractive Market and Trading Place.

With two big, modernly equipped grain elevators and beaneries, and several other buyers who specialize in different kinds of farm products, Yale is certainly an attractive market place, and the volume of shipping from this point should reach a top-notch record this fall and winter, if the present prosperous condition of the growing crops continues until harvest time.

The interests of Yale and the unsurpassed farming country that surrounds it are mutual. It should always be a case of help each other, as through such reciprocal relations can only the best possible results all 'round be attained. If the town prospers and progresses the countryside will advance in material wealth, and vice versa.

Yale stores carry the largest and best selected stocks of merchandise in all lines to be found in the county, and the incentive to buy at home should surely be apparent to those who estimate the situation with consideration for the country well being. It has been said that distance lends enchantment, but very often those who have been tempted by fancied favors of the far away have found to their dismay that the alluring promises were not borne out in fact.

As a business proposition, up one side and down the other, there is no place like home. Stand by your home town and you will never regret it.

Judge Eugene F. Law

Judge E. F. Law is observing his birthday today by presiding on the bench in the circuit court where he has balanced the scales of justice for many years. While it might be construed as a violation of a jurist's etiquette to comment on a jurist's efficiency and hard work and the manner in which justice has been meted out to prisoners before the bar, the writer must take the chance. Mr. Law on his birthday is entitled to commendation for his faithful years of service in one of the most important offices of the county—that dealing out justice impartially and deciding important legal issues.

Judge Law has the reputation of having had more of his rulings sustained by the supreme court of the state than falls to most jurists. He aims to be impartial and the letter of the law is his guide. In trying moments, such as come to many jurists, in disposing of a case of some prisoner, who has violated the criminal statutes of the state, it is necessary to temper justice with mercy. Often a man has been saved from the downward path by a little exercise of judgment and an insight into human nature. In other words he has been given another chance and all as a result of careful study of his case by the court.

Judge Law was born on a farm in Portage township, Kalamazoo county, Michigan on June 23, 1859. Thus it can be seen that the jurist is 55 years of age today. Judge Law obtained a common school education and then came a successful school teacher. He later took a course at the Michigan Agricultural college and again became a teacher. In 1892 Judge Law graduated from the law department of the Michigan University and in December 1892 took up the practice in Port Huron becoming associated with the late A. E. Chadwick. In 1900 Judge Law was elected prosecuting attorney of the county and in August 1901 he was appointed by the late Governor Bliss to the office of circuit judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Whipple.

Judge Law has been on the circuit court bench of St. Clair county since 1901, having been elected at last judicial election. His present term of office does not expire until 1917. Judge Law is today receiving congratulations of many friends from the city and county.—Times-Herald, June 23.
